Understand it.

NAAFA was established in 1969 as a non-profit civil rights organization dedicated to ending size discrimination in all of its forms. NAAFA's goal is to help build a society in which people of every size are accepted with dignity and equality in all aspects of life. NAAFA pursues this goal through advocacy, public education, and support.

"Weight discrimination is a social injustice and a public health issue that remains widespread."

[Puhl 2015]

Accept it.

Size discrimination touches all races, genders, and socioeconomic levels. As America battles for freedom and equality around the globe, it makes no sense that a second class of citizen is being created here at home. It is said that Obesity is a cost that is dragging our nation down, then what is the cost of size discrimination? What will its impact be on our nation's future?

We are a resource and ally to anyone interested in eliminating size discrimination.
